From the Editor

This issue of Transactions of the Burgon Society contains a remarkable variety of topics and includes versions of three papers submitted for the Fellowship of the Burgon Society. We have another account of the development of dress at a particular university, but this time one outside the United Kingdom: Toronto. The question of academic dress for Lambeth degree holders is re-examined by a former Vice-Chancellor of the University of London. Academic and official dress in two spheres outside the universities is explored: the royal medical colleges and other societies and that unique institution, the Chapel Royal. In addition we are including reproductions of all the Wills cigarette cards, accompanied by critical annotations on Charles Franklyn's text.

I am very grateful for the cooperation and patience of our contributors and my colleagues on the editorial board, whose support is very much appreciated.

Correction

In Bruce Christianson's article 'Doctors' Greens', published in Transactions of the Burgon Society, 6 (2006), pp. 44–48, a footnote was omitted from the final paragraph. The author pleads incuria; the editor offers his apologies. The paragraph should read:

Depending on one's point of view, the green doctor's robes of Leeds and of the other universities which currently use them²⁸ can thus be thought of either as a re-introduction of an ancient tradition, or as symbolic of a process only half completed.²⁹

²⁸ These include (inter alia) William and Mary VA, Michigan State MI, Portland State OR, Tulane LA, Washington St Louis MO, Wayne State MI, Hawaii Manoa HI, Tashkent UZ, and Unitec NZ.

²⁹ See Hopman, p. 563, n. 22, for more on such symbolism.

Burgon Society On-line Bibliography

- The aim is to build up a comprehensive resource for those researching the design, history and practice of academical dress.
- The Introduction is a brief survey of the key materials on academical dress that are either in print or available in the larger public and university libraries.
- The Alphabetical list that follows is intended to cover what has been published on the subject since the beginning of the nineteenth century; earlier items are listed if they include engravings that provide important evidence of robes of the period.
- Suggestions for additions (or corrections) are welcome. Please e-mail webmaster@burgon.org.uk
