Editor's Note:

As professional members of ACE, we have the responsibility to disseminate our research findings and scholarly writings. Ideally, the journal should be in every university library represented in ACE. However, the Journal of Applied Communications, formerly The ACE Quarterly, is not being widely distributed to the academic libraries. In addition, the journal should be in the libraries of all universities with agricultural communications, mass communications, journalism, communications and related programs. Therefore, each ACE member should request that their library subscribe to the Journal of Applied Communications. Please give your library a call and find out the procedure required for library acquisitions and then request that your library subscribe to the journal.
