

Kansas State University Libraries
New Prairie Press

Symphony in the Flint Hills Field Journal

2015 – Grasslands of the World (Jim Hoy, Larry Patton, Marty White, Editors)

The Nature Conservancy; The National Park Service

Follow this and additional works at: <https://newprairiepress.org/sfh>

Recommended Citation

(2015). "The Nature Conservancy; The National Park Service," Symphony in the Flint Hills Field Journal.
<https://newprairiepress.org/sfh/2015/contents/5>

To order hard copies of the Field Journals, go to shop.symphonyintheflinthills.org.

The Field Journals are made possible in part with funding from the Fred C. and Mary R. Koch Foundation.

This is brought to you for free and open access by the Conferences at New Prairie Press. It has been accepted for inclusion in Symphony in the Flint Hills Field Journal by an authorized administrator of New Prairie Press. For more information, please contact cads@k-state.edu.

From BOOK OF GRASS
Jon Scott Anderson

THE NATURE CONSERVANCY

The Nature Conservancy works in all fifty states and more than thirty-five countries to conserve the lands and waters on which all life depends. The Nature Conservancy is the largest conservation organization in the state of Kansas and has protected nearly 100,000 acres of land across the state, including the Tallgrass Prairie National Preserve.

As our education partner and host, The Nature Conservancy has made it possible to feature some of the world's experts on grasslands conservation, providing speakers for more than twenty presentations at the Signature Event and at a Grasslands Symposium on June 12, as well as granting permission to use many of the articles that appear in this Field Journal. We are grateful for the Conservancy's efforts to preserve the tallgrass prairie and the Grasslands of the World.

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

Since 1916, the American people have entrusted the National Park Service with the care of their national parks. With the help of volunteers and partners, the National Park Service safeguards more than 400 places and shares their stories with more than 275 million visitors each year.

The National Park Service is a co-land manager of the Tallgrass Prairie National Preserve in a unique partnership with The Nature Conservancy, which is the primary landowner. We appreciate the time, energy, and resources the National Park Service has committed to ensuring a safe and enjoyable day for our ticketholders.