Abstract

Informative information regarding The Advocate, the peer-reviewed publication of the Association of Teacher Educators in Kansas.

The ADVOCATE Fall-Winter 2022-2023

The Advocate provides a forum for teacher-educators and others who have a stake in teacher education. The Advocate is a peer-reviewed journal published through New Prairie Press at Kansas State University using the Digital Commons platform. The Advocate's editors work with support of an editorial board of selected academics in the area of Teacher Education. This board has the opportunity to monitor publication, make suggestions and recommend changes to the journal and reports to the Association of Teacher Educators-Kansas Board of Administration.

Although primarily a research journal, other forms of writing such as position papers, editorials, literature reviews, best practices, new technology, and reports from the field are welcome submissions. If you are interested in submitting a manuscript for consideration, please visit us at: The Advocate.

Please see the Association of Teacher Educators-Kansas web-site for more information regarding the work of our organization. Membership in the organization is $20.00 per academic year and provides you with not only membership, but the opportunity to submit your manuscripts to The Advocate, which is published twice a year. To join ATE-K, please see: ATE-K Membership.

Members of The Advocate Editorial Board include:

Dr. Gary Andersen, Ft. Hays State University (Co-Editor)
Dr. Laurie Curtis, ATE-K Executive Director (Co-Editor)
Dr. Jill Gonzales-Bravo, Mid-America Nazarene University
