

Bio:

Jocelyn Wehr began her career with the National Digital Newspaper Program at the Kansas Historical Society in 2009. She joined the Academy of Certified Archivists in 2013. In her current position at the University of Kansas Libraries, she manages the digital imaging workflows for in-house and outsourced projects with the help of student assistants. Other professional activities include consulting on digitization grants at libraries, archives, and museums across the state of Kansas and judging at Kansas History Day competitions.